Customer Reviews

Jennifer Claydon's passion for the fiber arts began at age six when she picked up her first pair of knitting needles. While she is currently focused on spinning and knitting, her diverse experiences in the fiber arts also include dying, weaving, quilting, felting, embroidery and embellishment, crochet and lace-making. Jennifer works as an editor for the Krause Publications craft team where she finds unending inspiration for her work.

I bought this for a really low price. That was a good thing because if I had paid more than I did I would have been VERY disappointed. I hoped that there would be a little more inspiration, some more challenging projects than the ones on the front cover. If there would have been a "Look inside" option I would have seen there were none. This is a good book for real beginners. When I first started making jewelry I might have learned a lot, but if you are a little bit more experienced than that, don't bother to buy it. I suggest you go to a well known website where jewelry designers and -makers post tutorials, and save your $$$ for an other more inspiring and challenging book.

I was looking for inspiration to up the creative level of my jewelry, and this is a book full of inspiration. I think a little prior experience is helpful, but not essential. However, being handy with tools is important. Very nice photos, a variety of levels of difficulty. Lots of ways to incorporate parts and ideas into new original creative work. I am very pleased with this book and glad I added it to my library.

Some of the designs are quite lovely. It gave me some good ideas for styles I had not thought of. The illustrations are very good and the directions are easy to follow.

I'm learning a lot from this book, and the price I found it here is great. I'm already looking for more from this author.
