The Wild About Creation Sticker and Activity Book from creators of 'The Beginner's Bible' series describe the story of creation in 16 full-color pages. Hands-on activities ignite children's imaginations as they color, trace, connect the dots, follow the mazes and solve word puzzles. Children learn about animals, Adam, Eve and the creation story as they choose the appropriate stickers to complete the biblical pictures. Although the Bible story of creation isn't paraphrased or mentioned, the story is easy to follow and supports Bible teachings. The sticker, activity book is recommended for ages 4-8, however some activities are more suitable for early elementary grades and ages 3-7 is a better fit. Solid biblical teaching and reasonable price make 'The Beginner's Bible

All About Jesus Sticker and Activity Book' an attractive choice for Christmas. (The Midwest Book Review)

My three boys loved this and they were disappointed I didn't get each of them one. If you are expecting it to last more than once though I would get another product. Not because of it's quality but just because there aren't too many stickers.

I was looking for something to keep my child occupied during church and this was perfect! He's 19 months and loves stickers so it kept his attention during the service and the stickers were Bible oriented so that was even better! Will definitely be buying more.

Fun

Thought good introductory sticker book. Kids like it as you can move the stickers around

I was hoping this was a book dedicating a page to each day of creation. This was not the case. It's a decent book and geared towards school age children.

my grand daughter loved it

On the sixth day, God created animals to creep, crawl, hop, and gallop. Then from the dust, God made the most wonderful creature of all – a person. God named him Adam, it is written in Zondervan's children's book, The Beginner's Bible: Wild about Creation. Part of The Beginner's Bible series, this sixteen-page paperback targets young children from four to eight years old who enjoy stories from the Bible and doing activities. Focusing on God creating the world, this is a sticker and activity book geared to hands-on interaction. With no scary scenes except for God casting Adam and Eve out of the Garden of Eden, the creation story is lightly discussed. This reviewer wishes all pronouns of God were capitalized for reverence. With colorful but easy-to-decipher illustrations and line drawings, each page provides what God created. With no day-by-day timeline, only the fifth and sixth days are noted when the animals and Adam were created. Beginning with light and darkness, there are areas to add stars and a moon stickers on the colored picture. As God makes plants, fish, animals, and Adam and Eve, the end has the sneaky snake and forbidden fruit with God casting the couple out of the garden. No Bible verses are written out or referenced, but it is promoted how much God loved the two humans. The activities include tracing shapes and letters, connecting the dots, finding differences in pictures, coloring black and white animals on a colored background, matching animals, working the way through a maze, finding words in a puzzle, counting objects, filling in a secret message, sequencing pictures, drawing, coloring, and adding stickers. The middle of the book contains two pages of fifty reusable stickers that are of animals, angels, Adam, Eve, food, and stars to name a few. Young boys and girls will enjoy placing stickers on the pictures and doing the activities while learning of God creating the world and the fall of mankind. Although it deals vaguely with the consequences of being disobedient to God, the book offers a fun way to learn about the Bible and God.
