Erin Muschla-Berry is a middle school math teacher in New Jersey. She is also the author of Practice Makes Perfect: Pre-Algebra.

So far, makes sense, but, found one error: page nine, problem T, LCM of 72 & 12 is 72, not 144. Also, page 8, it should be clarified "and only the largest exponent of each" that also only one of equal value (numeral/exponent) should be written as well. i.e. 2 to the second power of one factor should only be written once if 2 to the second power exists for the second factor as well. Also, needs more work space for some problems. Not too far into the book but so far it is much less confusing and fills in the gaps compared with other books. I like the format very much.

My son is home schooled and this book is great. The instructions are easy to understand while the problems are still challenging and encourage learning. There is an answer packet in the back of the book. I would use this again.

This book does a good job of breaking down all the steps that work up to the main goal of the problems. It is clear on its explanations and has plenty of work problems to practice on. However, there are quite a few mistakes throughout the book. Little things like a multiplication sign rather than a minus sign or the answer in the answer key is wrong. Other than that, it's a good resource.

I passed my math portion of the test due to this book

Awesome book to learn from with great examples and pictures and an answer key. Very helpful.

Solid and straight forward, useful in teaching post-secondary adults who have been "out of school" for decades! would recommend to anyone.

Item arrived as promised. Thank your love this book it helps out a lot.
